

HETTY ANDERSON BEGINS STORY OF CAREER IN WACO

WACO WORKING WOMAN REVEALS INTIMATE DETAILS OF HER LIFE FOR PAST 5 YEARS.

QUITS COUNTRY HOME FIRST INSTALLMENT TELLS OF BURYING HER MOTHER AND OF CALL TO LARGER LIFE.

A Foreword, by Hetty Anderson. I CAME to Waco five years ago, determined to make good. I had a vision of what life should mean to me, and I had never had a chance in my home town.

In those five years I have achieved a fair amount of success in my profession, have been sweetheart, wife and mother. I have run the gamut of human emotions, and my struggles to keep my head above the water have often been more terrific than seemed at the time endurable.

I am giving to other girls the record of those five years, and if it will help any girl to fight the hard fight, or will make any employer look with more human and understanding eyes upon the girls who take his letters, or sell his goods, or run his machines, then I shall not feel that the headaches which have come from the labor of composition have been in vain.

CHAPTER I. Hetty Buries Her Mother at Rogers, Texas.

My mother was dead. She lay there resting, her cheeks pale and sunken, her firm chin sagging for the first time, her thin, wrinkled hands folded loosely, with nothing whatever to do. I couldn't remember when those hands had been idle before.

It was the first funeral our little town, Rogers, Texas, had had in three months and as a social event, the whole town was turning out en masse. I sat at the head of the coffin, in a cheap black dress borrowed for the occasion. I was waiting for the whole horrible affair to be over. Preacher Wilson carried his derby in one fat-freckled hand, and mopped his perspiring brow with an immaculate handkerchief held in the other. He advanced on tiptoes and stood over her, looking sadly and piously upon her whom he had scarcely noticed during her life. She had just been Sister Anderson to him, one of a rather unsatisfactory congregation in the little town of Rogers.

Gradually the crowd filed in, kind-folks from Temple, cousins from Bastrop, and a brother from Fort Worth. No one smiled in greeting of another; the awful funeral hush hung over everyone. I watched the neighbors drop furtively into seats, and cast veiled but interested glances at me to see how I was "taking it," and then shift toward my relatives to size them up. A billowy mass of lavender in front of me irritated me and I looked up to discover the officious wife of my employer, who is so stout that she looks upon anyone with a slender body with the bitterest rancor. She was looking at me now with a curious blending of forced sympathy and jealous hatred.

The preacher cleared his throat, and announced the hymn. The quavering voice of the town soprano rose in tremulous triumph, and the other women took it up, supplemented by the deep bass voice of the preacher himself.

And I sat there, with bowed head, feeling keenly how the little mother would have hated it all. I know that Brother Wilson launched into a eulogy of her who lay so quiet, but I didn't hear much of it. I was thinking and trying to adjust myself to the new freedom which was mine.

And then the relatives and neighbors marched slowly past for the last look. Cousin Ella Hilton from Temple who had not known mother, looked her over rather disdainfully, and I could read her verdict. "Just a common old woman." The look that I gave her and some of the others that bent over her in idle curiosity must have given them something to talk about for a long time.

Finally they lifted the coffin and bore her out. I followed, and was closed in a stuffy carriage used only for such state occasions. The air was foul with the odors of other funerals, and heavy with the scent of the flowers which the brother from Fort Worth and my aunts from Temple held. The last few moments when we stood with bowed heads while the worn-out body was lowered were too painful for me to write about.

CHAPTER II. Hetty Realizes a Friend's Loss.

The funeral was over. I pulled off my dowdy black hat and sat down in

BELTON SERVICE RE-INTERES BODY OF JUDGE BAYLOR

REMAINS HAD BEEN EXHUMED AT INDEPENDENCE, BURIED SINCE 1873.

Special to the News. Belton, May 6.—The remains of Judge R. E. B. Baylor, founder of Baylor college, after having rested at Independence, Texas, since 1873, were exhumed on April 18 and re-entered on the campus of Baylor college of this city this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Dr. G. W. Bains of San Marcos and Dr. J. M. Carroll of San Antonio, both graduates of Baylor university, Waco, were the pall bearers.

The bones were all intact, but nothing remained of the coffin, but the Masonic emblem and the metal handles which were given to Dr. S. P. Brooks, president of Baylor university, to be kept in the archives of the university.

Dr. Brooks Attends.

The speakers of the occasion were Dr. A. E. Beaten of Brownwood, who presided; Dr. J. M. Carroll of San Antonio; Dr. G. W. Bains of San Marcos; Dr. S. P. Brooks of Waco, and Dr. J. E. Hardy, president Baylor college, and Hon. George W. Tyler of this city.

Tom Shannon, who exhumed the remains at Independence on April 18, and Dr. Tom Cook Halston of Independence, who examined the remains and pronounced the bones all intact, are grandsons of two of the charter members of the board of trustees of Baylor college which was started by the Republic of Texas, February 1, 1845.

His Dying Request.

It was the dying request of Judge Baylor that his remains rest on Baylor soil and the property of the original college at Independence having passed from the ownership of the Texas Baptists the re-interment was made here by the authorities of the general Baptist assembly of Texas.

The inscription on the marble slab which marks the new made grave on the campus of Baylor college here is as follows:

JUDGE ROBERT EMMETT BLEDSOE BAYLOR

Founder of Baylor College, 1845. Buried at Independence, Texas, 1873. Re-entered at Belton, 1917.

Born in 1791.

Judge Baylor was born in Alabama in 1791, died at Independence, Texas, 1873. His father was prominently associated with George Washington in the struggle for the Independence of the American colonies. He was three times elected to congress from his native state and lived also in Virginia and Kentucky before coming to Texas in 1841. He was the first district judge to hold court in Waco and Belton. He was a teacher, lawyer and preacher. He was a poet and musician, and declared by Hon. George Q. Tyler of this city, one of the speakers of the occasion, to have been a great conversationalist, Judge Baylor having been a guest in the home of Judge Tyler's parents in this city on many occasions.

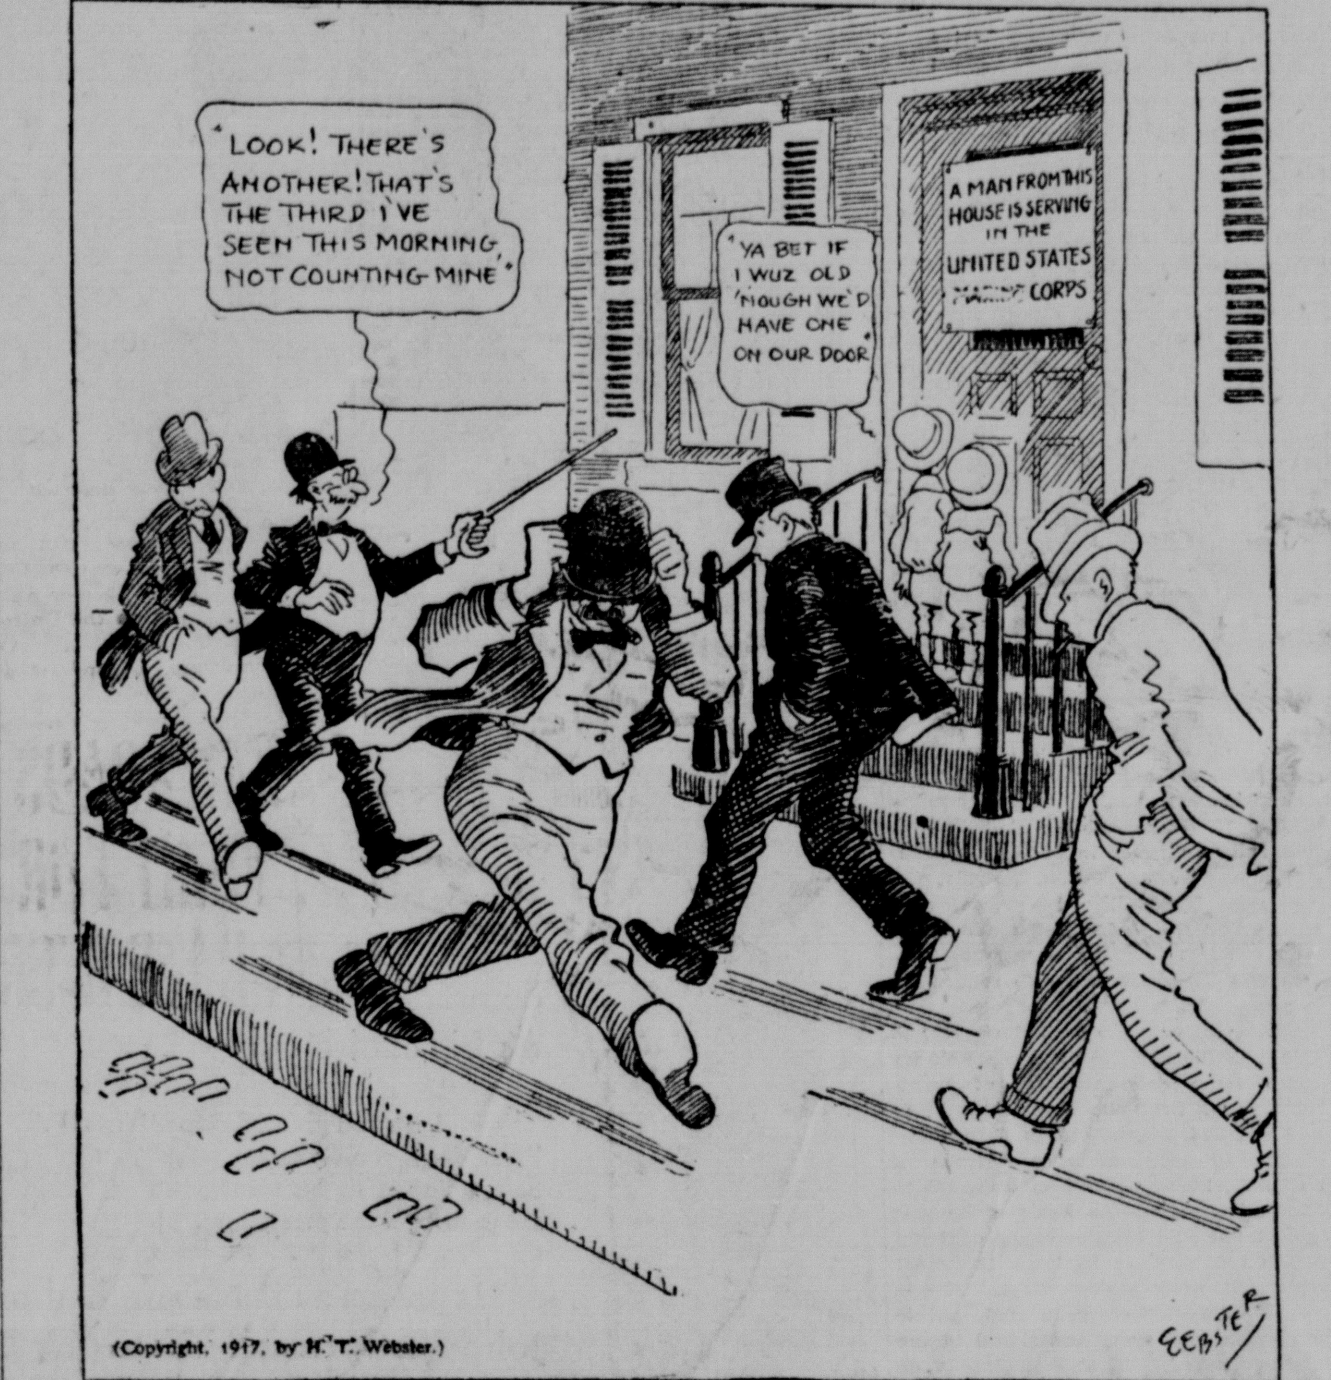

Brothers Loved One Girl.

Judge Baylor was never married. He and his brother loved the same girl, and were both so unselfish that neither would marry her. Six relatives of Judge Baylor were present at the re-interment. They are: Mrs. Mollie Garrett Bledsoe and son of Taylor; Mrs. John Stewart, Mrs. Barrett and the Misses Lillian and Lucille Bolmes of Houston.

Several Waco citizens, including students and teachers of Baylor university, were present.

By Associated Press. CHICAGO, MAY 6.—Henceforth when a man enlists in the United States navy a printed signal bearing the official seal of the navy department will be sent to his parents that they may put it in the window of their home. The card reads: "A MAN FROM THIS HOUSE IS NOW SERVING HIS COUNTRY AT THE FRONT IN THE UNITED STATES NAVY."

This was announced tonight by Lieut. L. M. Stevens, in charge of naval recruiting here. He expects the cards will stimulate recruiting.

"SECRET AMERICAN TREATY" RED FLAG FOR GERMANS

By Associated Press. Copenhagen, May 6, via London.—As the latest means of keeping the Germans aroused, the German newspapers have discovered "a secret Anglo-American treaty," whereby Germany in the future is to be allowed no colonies whatever, Germany's surplus population to be directed to the Anglo-Saxon controlled regions, where "they are to be absorbed as the Germans have been in the United States."

ATTEMPTS AT PEACE MEET APPARENTLY FALLING DOWN

By Associated Press. Stockholm, May 5.—It is becoming daily apparent that the Dutch members of the international socialist bureau and their Scandinavian party comrades who are seeking to prepare the ground here for the peace conference are fishing in troubled waters and there is neither any certainty that there are fish in the pool, nor that the anglers can agree on the proper bait. It is yet too early to hazard a guess as to the outcome, but developments to date have made it apparent that the preliminary task of getting the representatives of the warring nations together under one group is not going to be easy, but that even the neutral engineers of the conference are not unanimous on all points.

HOW IS BUSINESS? ANSWER No. 1

Below is the first of a daily series of statements regarding business conditions by prominent Waco financiers and business men, written at the request of the Editor of the News.

By Edward Rotan.

A "News" request for an opinion is a highly esteemed compliment, and withal, quite undeserved. Existing business conditions show no cause for pessimism. Agricultural, banking and mercantile interests, in Texas and out, are unusually well fortified. Money is plentiful for all who are in good credit, and interest rates are low. The Federal Reserve Bank system is not an experiment, but a success. The Farm Loan Banks are about to begin business, under favorable auspices. No widespread disaster has befallen any of our staple crops, there is no expansion of credit

HINDENBURG IS FACING CRITICS

COPENHAGEN DISPATCH INDICATES GROWING DOUBT OVER STRATEGIC RETIREMENT.

By Associated Press. Copenhagen, May 6.—All is apparently not easy sailing for the German military authorities in their efforts to convince the people that everything is going well on the western front. The German military critics occasionally refer in their articles to letters of criticism of readers on this or that front, indicating that not only an unwillingness to take the official bulletins and the dispatches of the war correspondents at their face value, but also that the number of doubting Thomases is large.

A few weeks ago, as is evident from articles by Captain Salzmann in the Vossische Zeitung, and by other writers, there was displayed an inability to see a great victory in Von Hindenburg's strategic retirement. And now a writer in the Deutsche Tages Zeitung says that many a good patriot is struck by the discrepancy between the German and the foreign reports and is showing a hesitation to accept the German figures of the number of enemy airplanes destroyed.

BERLIN DECLARES FRENCH IN SANGUINARY DEFEAT

By Associated Press. Berlin, May 6.—The official communication issued this evening says: "After their sanguinary defeat of yesterday on the Aisne, the French have not repeated their attack. Only at the Winterburg, west of Craonne, is there fresh fighting in progress. "Contrary to the report of today, Chevreux was not taken by the French, but is still in our hands."

GERMAN PRISONERS REACH TOTAL OF 5800, SAY FRENCH

By Associated Press. Paris, May 6.—Every gain scored by the French in yesterday's brilliant advance northeast of Soissons was maintained against numerous heavy counter attacks last night, the war office announces. Consolidation of the ground has made them masters of most of the ridge crowned by the Chemin Des Dames along a front of more than eighteen miles. The prisoners taken have reached a total of 5,800 and seven cannon have been captured.

FLIES OVER BLACK SEA.

By Associated Press. Berlin, May 6.—Odessa, in Russia, on the Black sea, was visited by a German airplane yesterday, being the first occasion in the war that a German machine has flown over this Russian seaport.

SUBSCRIPTIONS TO LIBERTY LOAN CONTINUE TO ARRIVE

By Associated Press. Washington, May 6.—The golden flood of subscriptions to the liberty loan continued to sweep in upon the treasury today without abatement. Officials estimated that since 2 o'clock Saturday when the last compilation was made, offers had been received by wire totalling as much as the big aggregate made public last night, $172,000,000. Should this estimate be correct, the total thus far approaches $500,000,000.

HERE'S A STUNNER FOR PRESIDENT FROM AUSTRIA

By Associated Press. Amsterdam, via London, May 6.—"The entire fault for America's entry into the war lies with President Wilson, who is an obstinate Anglophile, autocrat, filled with doctrinaire stubbornness," writes Dr. Constantin Theodore Dumba, former Austro-Hungarian ambassador to the United States in the May number of the Oesterreichische Rundschau, a copy of which has been received here.

RAILROADS PLAN FIGHT FOR 15PC. RATE INCREASES

OPPOSED TO THEM WILL BE REPRESENTATIVES OF 300,000 SHIPPERS.

By Associated Press. Washington, May 6.—The railroads of the country will open here tomorrow their fight for a general 15 per cent advance in freight rates.

Virtually every railroad in the country will be represented at the hearings before the interstate commerce commission. Representatives of more than 300,000 shippers also will be on hand to state their views as to the proposed increases.

On the basis of last year's operating receipts, the railroads are seeking to add, through the general increase, a sum variously estimated at between $300,000,000 and $400,000,000 to their revenues this year. They claim the rising cost of everything represented in their operation from labor to taxes, has soared to a point where this revenue is imperatively necessary if they are to continue profitable operation.

The proposed advance, if approved, would be effective July 1.

The roads have agreed to a general reduction in the future if it should be shown that the emergency of which they now complain no longer exists and the increased rates they are now seeking are no longer justified.

WAR PROGRAM IS PROMISED IN CONGRESS THIS WEEK

By Associated Press. Washington, May 6.—Numerous war measures will be perfected or passed this week by congress. The list to be acted upon includes the army draft, war revenue, food control and espionage measures, the annual army appropriation bill, the rivers and harbors bill and the bill authorizing the president to put the seized German ships into service.

Conferees on the war army bill are expected to make their report in a day or two. With conscription assured, interest in the bill centers on the age limit compromise which is expected to be either between 18 and 30 or 21 and 35 and the senate provision which would permit Colonel Roosevelt to organize a force for service in France.

The house ways and means committee probably will complete and report tomorrow or Tuesday on the war revenue bill.

A final vote on the espionage bill probably will be taken in the senate early in the week. Tomorrow the mail censorship section will be considered first to be followed by a fight over the press censorship feature.

PRaises Alien Citizens.

By Associated Press. Washington, May 6.—High praise for the conduct of America's foreign born citizens is given by Attorney General Gregory in a statement tonight revealing that since the United States entered the war only 125 alien enemies have been arrested under the president's proclamation.

BERLIN ASSERTS FAILURE.

By Associated Press. Berlin, May 6.—A tremendous thrust by the French on a front of nearly twenty-two miles in an effort to break through the German line on the Ailette-Craonne front yesterday proved entirely futile, army headquarters announced today.

RUSSIAN RUMORS OF REVOLT ONCE MORE DISAPPEAR

CONTROVERSY OF WORKMEN WITH GOVERNMENT BELIEVED SETTLED.

ACQUIT NEW LEADERS

EXPLANATION OF STAND IS VOID OF VAGUENESS WHICH THREATENED NATION.

By Associated Press. Petrograd, Friday, May 4 (Delayed).—The controversy between the council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates and provisional government, which for the last twenty-four hours had threatened such serious consequences, in which, in fact, the fate of the nation and possibly of the war were involved, has been settled.

Prince Tseretelli, speaking before a tremendous assemblage of soldiers and workmen, meeting to receive the report of the executive council, declared the government had prepared a new declaration concerning its foreign policy which was in definite language, corresponded to the proclamation of April 9, and embodied the views of the proletariat.

Government Acquits Self.

When the speaker declared the temporary government had acquitted itself of the charge brought against it by explaining in concise terms what it meant by the vague form of yesterday's declaration, a great cheer arose from the assembly and lasted for several minutes. It apparently voiced the relief which all present felt at the solution of the most serious difficulty which had confronted the country since the revolution.

Prince Tseretelli then read the new declaration sent the council by the government and explained that the trouble was over and the provisional government would remain in power. Democracy, he announced amid continued cheering, had won a great victory. The speaker went on to explain the principal exception which the council had taken to the recent note of the government was the phrase, "War to a victorious conclusion," which, he asserted, was an unfortunate expression, since it was identical with the formula used so often by the old regime with quite a different sense.

Desire Allied Promises.

"Now that the question has been settled here," said Prince Tseretelli, "our aims—war without annexations, expropriations or contributions—also must be realized abroad. We must know the attitude of the democracy of our allies. If a similar movement takes place in the foreign democracies this will bring peace nearer, and we shall struggle until our views are also the avowed aims of the democracies with whom we are allied."

"The situation yesterday was most serious for the whole country. We do not yet know what the government meant. Conflict seemed unavoidable, but the government realized it must respect our determination. By this acknowledgment the government has shown it deserves the trust of the democracy."

"The conflict now is settled and we must go on quietly with our work. We must inform our comrades the trouble is over and tell them of the new victory of democracy and that the government is standing firmly in its original position. The council appeals to the people to unite around it."

PETROGRAD AGAIN WARNED OF ATTACK BY WAY OF LIBAU

By Associated Press. Petrograd, May 6.—Petrograd is again warned of an impending German attack upon it by way of Libau, in an army order which directs the disposition of forces to resist such an attack. The warning was given by General Korniloff, commanding the troops in the Petrograd district.

SEE MEXICAN FRIENDSHIP REVIVED BY FLAG DISPLAY

By Associated Press. Brownsville, May 6.—What is considered a further indication of the revived Mexican friendship for United States was seen at the "Cinco de Mayo" banquet at Matamoros, Mex., opposite here, last night when American flags were used profusely in the decoration of the banquet room. The occasion was in commemoration of the anniversary of the defeat of the Imperialistic French by Mexicans.

KANSAS CITY IN WELCOME SUNDAY TO 'PAPA' JOFFRE

THUNDEROUS ORATION GIVEN FRENCH MISSION WHEN THEY REACH CITY YESTERDAY.

By Associated Press.
Kansas City, Mo., May 6.—The "sacred union" of the United States and the entente allies will not be dissolved until German imperialism has been destroyed and the peace of the world assured.

In those words, M. Viviani, head of the French mission and former premier of France, acknowledged here today the proffered pledges of loyalty and undivided co-operation of the middle west in the war of democracy against autocracy. The mission, at the western end of their trip through America, spent here a morning filled with manifestations of the spirit and patriotism of this section. Thousands of persons, waving the French tricolor and the Stars and Stripes, lined the streets and crowded all available space at the religious loyalty meeting at Convention hall.

For Ultimate Peace.
The convention hall audience was told by M. Viviani that the United States had not entered the war alone to help France, but rather to uphold the torch of civilization and to obtain for the world ultimate peace. His words were greeted with an outburst of applause that subsided only when Marshal Joffre, the hero of the Marne, spoke a few words to return the thunderous ovation given to his country and her soldiers.

"You free Americans so well understand why thousands and thousands of our children are now sleeping their last," M. Viviani said. "You know it was not because there was in our hearts the desire to conquer. It was not the fight of an army against an army, but it was the fight of democracy against autocracy."

"You will come not to aid France, but to help the cause of civilization, France, bleeding and fighting, with many destroyed homes and tombs, has held the German flood that now is going back. Come to France, you Americans, and help civilization and liberty. It is the best way, the only way to insure the peace of the world."

Likens Us to French.
The former premier spoke of the gratitude felt by all the commission members for the spirit of co-operation and willingness to serve in the war shown here and elsewhere on the trip through this country. He likened the people of the middle west to his own countrymen, saying they would evidence the same attributes of thrift and courage in carrying out the war that has been shown in France.

His speech came at the close of the meeting, after Mayor Edwards of Kansas City and Governors Gardner of Missouri and Capper of Kansas had promised that their states would not fail to do their "bit." Both Missouri and Kansas will remain in the fray until the last, the French commissioners were assured, and both were ready now to throw themselves wholeheartedly into the struggle.

"Kansas is always ready when there is fighting to be done," said Governor Capper. "And I assure you Kansas is ready now to stick until the last shot has been fired for the glorious victory that shall be ours."

Gov. Gardner Speaks.
The words of Governor Gardner were only slightly different:

"We have come to the final test as to whether democracy and free government shall be vouchsafed the world. Your country has stood the brunt of it with a patience and courage hitherto unknown in the history of the world. But now this nation has come to your aid and we propose to enlist in the common war. We expect to stand behind President Wilson as one man, consecrating our wealth and our lives to the great cause."

Kansas City never has given to a party of visitors such a reception as that extended the distinguished Frenchmen today. Throughout almost the entire motor trip that took them into nearly every section of the city, their cars were assailed with shouts and roars of applause. It is doubtful if, during their entire stay in the city, any member of the party was outside the sight of a French flag and at many places, where the watchers were banded in larger numbers, they were presented a sea of waving, red, white and blue of the emblems of both their country and that of their ally.

At numerous points along their triumphal trip through the city streets, the commissioners passed between lanes of olive drab, either of the service uniform of the national guard or the khaki of every Boy Scout troop of this city and Kansas City, Kan.

Touching Scenes Take Place.
Thousands of persons had been unable to get into Convention hall when Mayor Edwards called the meeting to order. For hours, men, women and children had stood outside the doors as they had at the Union station and wherever else they might catch a glimpse of "Papa" Joffre.

Members of the commission expressed themselves freely as being overcome by the continuous ovation. M. Hovelague, inspector general of public education, said that the loyalty and co-operation of the middle west would be of the utmost assistance in assuring a victorious outcome of the war.

"Papa" Joffre was touched deeply by an incident that occurred at the breakfast at the union station, attended by a small number of representative men. A gray-haired woman, whose name was unknown, sent to him by a national guardsman a letter in which was a $50 bill and a note that it should be used by him for the relief of wounded heroes of the Marne. The marshal promised it would be so used. M. Viviani was so touched by the reception that, at the convention hall meeting, he embraced both Marshal Joffre and Mayor Edwards with the French salute of a kiss upon either cheek.

The meeting at convention hall was a religious service, designed partly as a memorial for the Lusitania that was sunk on May 7, 1915, with the loss of more than 100 American lives. All creeds were represented and one of the most dramatic climaxes of the day came when Rabbi Bernstein of St. Joseph, Mo., declared in his speech:

All Creeds Gather.
"I am thankful that the time has come when I and my brothers as Jews may enter this war even as an ally of Russia."

Russia was mentioned by several speakers, and M. Viviani expressed the hope that Russia would continue in the war until the end, saying that freedom from the Romanoffs had been made possible there only because the allies had stood for the forces of democracy and independence. He went more deeply into the stand of the entente countries by describing the war feeling in France.

"All France is praying for divine justice," he said, "we know that the God of Pity cannot be in harmony with the brute strength of Germany. The solemn oath of Germany to respect the neutrality of Belgium was violated and today you see the methods of Germany in the destruction of the cathedrals of Rheims and Louvain, the spiritual show places of the world."

Missouri Inf. on Guard.
The commission was guarded, while here, by the Third Missouri Infantry, which several weeks ago was mobilized in the federal service.

Announcement was made here today by members of the commission that the Marquis De Chambrun, a descendant of La Fayette, had left the mission at Chicago yesterday to take up a special mission in the East.

The commission departed for St. Louis shortly after noon.

AT ST. LOUIS 7:26 P. M.

By Associated Press.
St. Louis, May 6.—The French mission arrived here from Kansas City at 7:30 tonight and went at once to the coliseum, which was packed to the doors.

On journey across Missouri from Kansas City to St. Louis members of the French mission had the best view of the country's agricultural operations, intensified by the war demands for foodstuffs, that they have seen thus far on their trip. Everywhere were signs of activity on farms. Brief stops were made at Carrollton, Moberly and Mexico where crowds gathered about the observation platform of the war mission special train and bands played patriotic tunes. Former Premier Viviani, Marshal Joffre and the other members of the party were presented to the crowds by Breckinridge Long, third assistant secretary of state, a Missourian. Mr. Viviani, head of the mission, made brief remarks, telling the people how honored he and his colleagues felt at the reception accorded them everywhere and how deeply appreciative they were. Marshal Joffre was the center of attraction everywhere and always with the cries of "Viva La France" were some of "Viva Le Joffre."

Members of the mission are thoroughly enjoying the trip.

The vociferous welcome everywhere has deepened their realization of the willingness of Americans to take an active part in the war as the ally of France and the other countries. The middle west has been a surprise to them in the intense patriotism shown at each place they have visited.

In the crowd at Moberly several native Frenchmen shouted their greetings in the language of the land of their birth and were given a hearty response and handshake by the commissioners. At Springfield, Ill., on Monday afternoon, Marshal Joffre will lay on the tomb of Abraham Lincoln a palm leaf such as is placed on the graves of soldiers of France by her army. Vice Premier Viviani will make an address in which he will pay tribute to the great American statesman. The visit to Lincoln's tomb was one of the great objects of the French war mission's tour, as the members desired to pay homage to America's great war president.

DALLAS IN FAREWELL TO CITIZENS LEAVING FOR CAMP

By Associated Press.
Dallas, May 6.—Dallas has every faith in you; we commend you to God's care. Do not forget, under whatever circumstances you may be thrown, that when human hands fail and cannot do for you what you are about to do for your country, there is a God above who will be with you. It is a righteous cause and righteousness shall certainly prevail.

These were the farewell words of Mayor Joe E. Lawther tonight to more than 200 Dallas men, from all walks of life, who departed for the officers' reserve training camp at Leon Springs, Texas. Thousands of persons stood with bared heads in a misty rain at union station, where the farewell ceremonies were held.

The Dallas contribution to the training camp traveled in a special train and was due at San Antonio early tomorrow morning.

TELLS AMERICA HOW TO BECOME FACTORY OF WAR

BRITISH MUNITIONS EXPERT GIVES STORY OF ENGLAND'S TRANSFORMATION.

By Associated Press.

Washington, May 6.—Great Britain's transformation of her great industrial system for war purposes was described here today by Maurice S. Amos, the British munitions expert, who was one of the chief factors in working out the change. Amos told some of the many things he has been laying before American officials since he came to Washington with the Balfour mission, to give the United States the benefit of England's experiences.

"England's industry which before the war was inchoate and unorganized," he said, "has gradually been diverged from the usual channels to specific war work in four different ways. First was the regulation under the defense of the realm act in the early days of the war under which speculation in war necessities was absolutely prohibited by requiring a government license. This, of course, restricted and stabilized such dealings as gave the government a semi-control through its influence over dealers. The attempt to do away with middlemen entirely, however, failed absolutely."

Priority to War Goods.

"Secondly the railroad executive committee which has an even greater control of transportation than your kindred body here, gave priority to war goods with such results that manufacturers desired to be classified as war manufacturers in order to secure immediate transportation. Thirdly, the exemption from military service of men engaged in war industries made many manufacturers change over from general war work in order to secure labor stability."

"Most important of all, however, in this readjustment was the priority committee of the ministry of munitions. At first the committee itself had divided manufactures into three classes of very different degrees of national urgency. We endeavored to allot all work on the basis of its war importance and oversee every contract in such a way as to keep the most important work always first. Three classes of work were soon made public and the aid of every individual in the kingdom asked. First, was class A, or immediate war work to have precedence over everything else in securing supplies, labor, transportation."

Divided into Classes.

"The second group, class B, we described as work looking to the maintenance without extension, for the present industrial plant and stocks. Class C we described as other work, especially foreign trade, maintained at first to keep up exchange and preserve our position abroad, but now pretty well abandoned."

"The original man to receive a class A contract is entitled on his own initiative to mark all orders necessary for making that product as class A also. Thus a box manufacturer filling an order for shell boxes, orders nails and wood under class A urgency; the nail man in turn orders his materials under class A and so on all the way back to the original raw materials entering into the finished product."

"Thus war material is given preference all along its road to construction. Most valuable to all, however, are the intense interest and enthusiasm created among all hands during the long route from raw material to fighting line. Every man knows at a glance whether he is on war work, whether the box he is making is for shells or for toys."

COMPULSORY RATIONING TO BE ENFORCED ABROAD

By Associated Press.

London, May 6.—Whether the people of the United Kingdom will respond to appeals for voluntary bread and wheat flour rationing embodied in King George's recent proclamation and in posters and pamphlets issued by the ministry of food, remains to be seen, but in the meantime the ministry is working at high pressure to put the finishing touches on the machine which will be established for compulsory rationing unless the country cuts down on consumption sharply on its own volition.

Bearing in mind Germany's rationing plan, which is said to be a complete failure, Baron Devonport, food controller, has turned to the well-nigh perfect organization developed by Herbert C. Hoover.

The main idea of the British plan is decentralization. The whole United Kingdom has been divided into areas each of which has been subdivided into cities, boroughs, urban district councils and rural district councils. These final small units will be charged with distributing bread and flour to the residents in their territory through bread cards, or some similar plan.

Surprised.

Eugene Field's wistful little epic of childhood is a thing of gentle pathos—of the quiet, deep tears we do not shed.

Do you recall how Little Boy Blue kissed his doughty comrades—the tin soldier and the toy dog—as he placed them on his chair?

"Now, don't you go till I come," he said,
"And don't you make any noise!"
So toddling off to his trundle-bed
He dreamt of the pretty toys.

And as he was dreaming, an angel song
Awakened our Little Boy Blue,—
Oh, the years are many, the years are long,
But the little toy friends are true.

It seems as if Nature had moulded the clear, sweet voice of John McCormack just to give breath to such delicate emotions. This new Victor Record will endear itself to thousands.

JOB PRINTERS ASK INCREASE

TO PRESENT SCALE ASKING ADVANCEMENT ON ACCOUNT OF H. C. L.

Members of Waco Typographical union at a meeting yesterday afternoon decided to send a delegate to the convention of the International Typographical union at Colorado Springs in August. An appropriation was made for this purpose, and delegate will be elected May 23.

The union adopted a vigorous resolution urging that President Wilson take steps to restrict the profits of individuals and corporations engaging in foodstuffs and other living necessities during the term of war in order that there might be as little suffering as possible among the people.

Considerable time was spent yesterday discussing scale matters. The local job scale has expired and proprietors will be asked to sign a new scale within the next few days. It is probable that an increase will be asked for, the present scale having been in effect three years. One of the union officials last night said that several employing printers already had expressed a willingness to grant an increase, in line with the high cost of living.

STOCKHOLM WOMEN RAISE PROTEST OVER FOOD

By Associated Press.

Stockholm, May 6, via London.—Women who stood in line to buy potatoes in the southern part of Stockholm yesterday became unruly when informed that the stock was exhausted and began a demonstration which assumed proportions that kept the police busy until after midnight. Several policemen were injured by stones and a number of the rioters received scalp wounds from the police sabres. Sixteen arrests were made.

BALFOUR WITH OTHERS IS LANSING'S SUNDAY GUEST

Washington, May 6.—Foreign Secretary Balfour and Sir Eric Drummond, the British ambassador and Lady Spring-Rice slipped quietly out of town today to spend Sunday with Secretary Lansing at Gunston Hall, one of the famous manor houses of Virginia, built by George Mason. Secretary and Mrs. Lansing were there for the week-end.

TO OUTLINE INTENTIONS.

Rio Janeiro, Saturday, May 5.—Upon formally assuming on Monday next the portfolio of foreign affairs, Nilo Pecanha, successor to Dr. Lauro Muller, is expected to make known the general lines of his program, the fundamental principle of which it is understood will be frank and energetic action in co-operation with the United States.

MOB HANGS MAN RESPONSIBLE FOR FIENDISH CRIME

KILLED AUTO TOURIST AND ASSAULTED DEAD MAN'S WIFE ON LONELY ROAD.

By Associated Press.

Phoenix, Ariz., May 6.—Star Daley, who by his confession killed Ray Gibson of Tucson last Thursday night and then assaulted Mrs. Gibson, was hanged to death today by a mob of Phoenix and Florence citizens. A coroner's jury, holding an inquest over the body of the hanged man, declared Daley was "a victim of justifiable homicide committed by persons unknown to the jury."

Daley was taken from a sheriff's party which was attempting to flee with him from the threatening wrath of the crowd which was forming here. More than 100 automobiles were used by the pursuing citizens and when the sheriff's car was caught, the deputies did not resist the mob.

After his capture by the mob Daley told how he had found the Gibsons camping near Mesa, where they had stopped while touring Arizona and the southwest in an automobile. He told how he stayed and chatted with Gibson and his wife for an hour or more and then how he shot Gibson to death and of his actions subsequently.

He also confessed, said his captors, to other crimes. And after he had completed his story he showed the mob leaders how he wanted the noose to be adjusted, and urged that he be hanged so his neck would break rather than to be strangled to death. His executioners recited the Lord's Prayer in chorus, then placed Daley on the top of one of the automobiles, which was driven out from him and he swung to instant death.

Daley was arrested Friday on complaint of Mrs. Gibson.

BUDAPEST FACTORIES IN GENERAL STRIKE, IS REPORT

By Associated Press.

Copenhagen, via London, May 6.—The foment among the Hungarian working classes caused by Premier Count Tisza's refusal of an effective reform of the franchise is far more serious than appeared in the censored telegraphic account of Wednesday's demonstration strike.

All the Budapest factories, it now is learned, then were closed. A resolution was presented by the workmen after the closing which demanded in the firmest of language a liberal electoral reform. If the answer was delayed or unfavorable, it was announced, the workmen were determined through a general strike to compel the government to yield.

FRENCH CAPTURE MORE THAN 6000 2 DAYS FIGHTING

CONSOLIDATE ALL GAINS MADE
DESPITE DESPERATE GER-MAN COUNTER ATTACKS.

By Associated Press.

Great Headquarters of the French Army in France, May 6.—Not only have the last two days of fighting along the Chemin Des Dames delivered more than 6,000 prisoners to the French, but have given them positions, whence they can operate on the principal German defensive line occupying the crest on the northern side of the Ailette valley.

From Laffaux mill to Cfaonne, the entire Chemin Des Dames with the exception of a very small section, is held firmly by the French who have thoroughly organized their gains in defiance of all the efforts to oust them. Counter attacks were tried by the Germans last night at many points with great masses of men who displayed the ferocity of despair, but they were beaten back again and again. The nerve of the French troops of all regiments, each one of which emulates its neighbor in bravery, was too much for the Germans who surrendered in large bodies, unable to withstand the French impetuosity.

Advance Rapidly.
The French troops advanced so rapidly that some of the German heavy artillery could not be removed and was captured together with some of their field artillery. Even the selected soldiers of the Prussian guard were unable to stem the advance. They were brought up in motor lorries when the other Germans had wavered and fallen back, but all they accomplished was to increase the bag of prisoners which is continually growing in size. While the guards were alighting from the lorries they were caught under a heavy fire from the French artillery and suffered terribly.

Men returning from the lines assert the number of Germans dead lying on the battlefield is greater than ever seen on one spot during the fighting in France.

The correspondent of the Associated Press watched the battle from the position whence the French went over to the attack north of Nateau-La-Fosse and Sancy.

To the northwest was Laffaux mill, while to the northeast, Fort Malmaison dismantled before the war stood out like a square block on the horizon. In the center was L'Ange Gardien.

MOTHER OF NINE CHILDREN

Able to do Housework by

Vegetable Compound

Springfield, Mass.—"After the birth of my ninth baby I was in a weak, run down condition, had pains in my left side, so I would faint often. My doctor advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and gained in strength so I can now do all my own house work and I hope you may publish my experience with your Compound for the benefit of other mothers."—MADAME EUGENE BEDARD, 558 Main Street, Springfield, Mass.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence.

where the Chemin Des Dames breaks off from the Soissons-Brussels road.

The battle hereabouts was most interesting, as the possession of Laffaux mill gives the occupants an enfilading position along the Chemin Des Dames and the Ailette. The Germans countered after the French had taken their front line, but were given blow for blow, the French eventually wearing down their opponents. Several farm houses were scenes of fierce engagements with hand grenades and bayonets. In these the French came out victorious.

This morning nearly thirty kilometers of the Chemin Des Dames were in French hands.

The correspondent, while on his way to the battle field, visited the abandoned Fort Conde from which Soissons was formerly bombarded almost daily by the Germans. Before they were forced out, the Germans exploded forty tons of powder in an effort to destroy the structure and laid mines as traps for the French. One electric fuse was found, but German prisoners informed the French it was only a dummy and indicated the position where another was connected with a powerful mine intended to blow up any one entering the fort.

the big rocker that had been hers, and tried to feel that the world would settle down around me again. I let my knees sag and didn't even try to wipe away the thin, straggling line of tears that began to dribble down my cheeks.

Somewhere in the back of the little house of Mrs. Beeson, who had helped through the sickness and death, closed a creaking door and put away, back to her own empty house, where a sickly grey cat was the only other living creature.

My tired mind fastened on the picture of the timid, shrinking little old lady whom I had known all my life, and I wondered fretfully how it would feel to grow old and older and oldest, living right on in a little town, where no one did big things, and where it didn't matter much if one's skirt were shiny and greenish from wear. I recalled how the poor thing had sewed at first, going out by the day to help mothers with the spring sewing, then had kept house for various widowers, and had finally stuck a crazily lettered little sign on her door, which announced, "Mary Beeson, Sick Nurse."

I found myself going dazedly over the events of the past few weeks. When my tired, frail little mother had crept into her bed one Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, quivering and apologetically hoping that I didn't mind having to watch the roast and telling me just where the pillow slips were for my bed, I smoothed her trembling weak hands and told her that I was glad for her to rest herself.

I expected to go back to the real estate office the next morning, where I was only stenographer and "office girl" held a conspicuous place. But the next morning found the family doctor fumbling with his leaky old fountain pen and trying to find his prescription pad. Later the neighbors had kindly advised me to call in the nurse and after that I had stood around incompetently, smoothing the pillows and giving the weak doses of tonic that the worried old doctor had prescribed.

I think I tried to tell her just how much I loved her and how much I appreciated her life of service. I know that the lump in my throat nearly choked me when I tried to realize how grey and uninteresting her life must have been. I was glad that she didn't seem to realize it herself.

And so I lost her, the only real friend I had ever had and the only one whom I had not appreciated.

(TO BE CONTINUED TOMORROW.)

In the next installment of her story, Hetty will tell of leaving her home in Rogers, Texas, for Waco, and her experiences subsequent to her arrival here.

GENEROUS RAIN INSURES TEXAS OF PROSPERITY

OATS AND WHEAT WILL NOW
PUT ON NEW LIFE AS RE-SULT OF MOISTURE.

Farmers applauded throughout the whole agricultural section of Texas yesterday when rain claimed the foot-hills over a very wide area. Central and Central-West Texas were specially fortunate, and vegetation received a new lease on life.

Over the Waco territory rain began falling at 5 to 6 o'clock, continuing most of the day. Not many places reported tank-filling rains, but most of them had the kind which will greatly benefit crops, particularly oats and wheat, which had reached a somewhat critical stage. Oats now will do much better than had been expected, and grain which many had thought might have to be cut and raked will now be cut with reapers as usual.

Boost for Corn.
Corn, which has been doing well, but which needed rain decidedly, should gain rapidly. Cotton also will claim large benefits, while all other crops will join the forward rush column. The food crops will justify, for the present at least, the fondest hopes and expectations of those who have so earnestly been advocating the planting of these crops.

The Texas Telephone company, Western Union Telegraph company and the following railroads reported rains: M., K. & T., Cotton Belt, I. & G. N., San Antonio and Aransas Pass, H. & T. C., with partial reports from all other lines from entering the city.

Rotan to Waco.
Rains were reported from Rotan to Waco on the Texas Central, the heaviest being from Waco to Albany in Shackelford county, though it was satisfactory and helpful west of that point. Everywhere the rains fell slowly, soaking into the ground without injury from a disastrous accompaniment of wind. The Cotton Belt reported rain eastward to Tyler, and some distance west. The Katy railroad, that is the main line, had rain from the Red river line to Austin. The I. & G. N. wires reported rain from Fort Worth to Valley Junction, with intimations that the main line was soaked.

Among the points specifically reporting rain were San Angelo, Brownwood, Rotan, Fort Worth, Dallas, Corsicana, Waxahachie, Hillsboro, Temple, Tyler, Taylor, Austin, Marlin, Lampasas, Burnet, Gatesville, Hamilton, Moody, Mart, McGregor, Crawford, West and all other points in this county.

It was stated by a number of persons that the rain really represented, in crop benefits, double the amount shown by the weather gauge, as it fell slowly and all soaked in.

SNOW AT AMARILLO.

By Associated Press.
Fort Worth, May 6.—Practically all of North and West Texas was visited by rains Saturday night and Sunday, the rain changing to snow in Amarillo and at a few other points. Drops in temperature were reported in almost every instance.

Amarillo was blanketed with eight and a half inches of snow this morning and trees in full leaf were borne to the ground by the weight. Snow which melted almost as it fell was reported around Post City, where a nine hour rain was reported. At Fort Worth, a slow soaking rain fell for twelve hours and a good grain crop in this vicinity is believed assured. Bowie, Brownwood, Dallas, Vernon, Cisco and Marshall also reported rains. Officials of the St. Louis Southwestern report rains generally from Fort Worth to Texarkana and the Houston and Texas Central reports rain all the way from Sherman to Houston. General rains as far west as Baird are reported by the Texas and Pacific railway. Plainview dispatches state that considerable snow and rain fell over the plains Saturday, saving a large acreage of wheat which had begun to suffer from drought.

OVER GULF COAST.

By Associated Press.
Corpus Christi, May 6.—Heavy rains fell today over the Texas Gulf coast section extending from Kenedy on the north of the Rio Grande and over an area one hundred miles in width. The lowest May temperature in nearly a decade was recorded at Corpus Christi, where the thermometer touched forty-eight degrees. The moisture was needed and it is believed assures fine crops in the gulf coast region.

AMERICAN REFUGEES TELL SERIOUSNESS CUBAN REVOLT

By Associated Press.
New York, May 6.—Charges that Cuban rebels are burning and pillaging the homes and properties of Americans and other foreigners in the districts of Palmarito, Bayate and Miranda, Oriente province, were made by twenty-four American and British refugees, who arrived here today. They predicted that there will be a massacre of the white residents remaining unless the United States intervenes.

Some women have discovered that a tear properly shed is the most moving thing in the world.

FASHIONS FOR AMERICANS

The enveloping coat of light weight fabric is a necessary item for any well organized wardrobe. Coats of satin and taffeta are being strongly favored for spring and summer. The silk coat goes well with a smart little afternoon dress. It also serves as a light wrap to be slipped on over a sheer summer evening or dance frock.

The model shown in the sketch is plain, as are all the season's coats; but it has several distinctive touches. The shortened front width, giving a glimpse of the frock over which the coat is worn, lifts it out of the non-descript class, and the cleverly set-in fullness at the sides contributes to the same end.

The coat is made of navy blue sport satin, and it is trimmed with raw silk in a crepe weave in contrasting color. Tan or oyster white or gold colored silk might be employed as a trimming. The buttons may match the fabric of the coat or the trimming, according to choice. Ordinarily when there is a decided contrast in the color of coat fabric proper and trimming, the buttons should match the coat. The back is quite plain and of an even length with the sides. If desired, the side fullness may conceal pockets.

In development of any sort of a separate coat it is well to remember that the lining of the garment may make or mar it. Designers pay too much attention to the selection of rich, colorful linings. Even the most sombre garment is vivified by an occasional glimpse of a bright-hued interior.

The hat shown on the figure sketched suggests that flower hats are again in high favor. The flower hat, however, has a strong rival in the hat made entirely of foliage.

Some charming little hats made of violet foliage are shown, and tinted geranium leaves are similarly used.

Hats of the season are either very small or very large. Among the small tailored hats the Brittany sailor is a favorite, and in large hats the all black transparent model is tremendously popular.

THE GIRL'S JOB THE PATRIOTIC WORKER BY JESSIE ROBERTS

The girl who has been trained to some definite job is the girl who can work best for Uncle Sam when he asks her to help him solve the difficulties of the present time. The trained dietitians, the women who understand telegraphy and wireless, who can work with machinery, who have taken courses in agriculture and chemistry, the women who are capable of organizing and managing a business, and of getting people to work for them, can give to their country a real and needed service.

The woman worker is not only capable of taking care of herself, but of assisting the country she loves. For the first time in the history of the world she is being asked to give a definite service to the state. That is, work that can be standardized and tabulated, and called for as required.

Today they have countless avenues of usefulness to their country in trained capacities, because they have been working in the world, not as amateurs, but as professionals, for more than a generation.

Surely we women who work can feel a satisfaction in this fact, and doubtless we will make a showing that will be satisfactory to the nation.

Children's Gardens.

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE.

If you have any space to grow vegetables, and have decided this year, as I trust you have, to help fight the high cost of living by cultivating a vegetable garden, let me offer this suggestion:

Give your children a chance to do patriotic work themselves by sharing in the gardening. Better still, set apart a section of your home garden for the little ones to plant and take care of as their very own.

It will allow the children to feel that they too are serving their country. And, aside from this important effect in the strengthening in them of the spirit of true patriotism, it will be of tremendous benefit to them morally, mentally, and physically.

In my home neighborhood, two summers ago, there was started a community garden for children. The main purpose was to keep the children off the streets, and at the same time provide them with pleasant occupation during the summer holidays.

Each child was given a little garden plot. Prizes were offered for the neatest garden, the most productive garden, etc. The children themselves entered into the project with expected enthusiasm.

All summer the children's garden was a scene of pleasing activity. And when results were reckoned at the end of the summer, certain interesting discoveries were made.

It was found that the children were healthier than at the summer's beginning. It was found that they had developed more initiative, self-respect, and sense of responsibility.

And not only had many of them acquired real skill as gardeners, but almost all of them showed greater mental alertness.

When school reopened they eagerly and briskly attacked their lessons. Formerly, after every long vacation, they had gone through a preliminary period of lethargy and inattention before settling down to work.

Clearly the community garden, by keeping the children in the habit of thinking to good purpose, had prevented the formation of those habits of mental indolence which have caused some educators to wish the summer holidays might be abolished or much shortened.

The results of this experiment indicate that similar community gardens for children might advantageously be established on vacant lots in all cities. They further indicate that in every home where there is a private garden, the children of the family should be encouraged to take a hand in the gardening.

This year particularly children's gardens should become a widespread reality. They can be made sources of genuine pleasure for the children, as well as factors that count in the solving of the serious problem of wartime food production.

Of course, there must be no overworking of the children. They must not be deprived of opportunity to romp and play. Put some of their play time every day they could profitably spend, and should spend, gardening.

Think this over, if you are a parent. Talk to your children about it. Tactfully create in them a desire for gardening, if such desire is not already present. Learn about gardening yourself, in order that there may be no wasted effort.

Then set to work, with your children, to sow and weed and cultivate.

Your Money at Work Why We Are Not Investors.

By JOHN M. OSKISON.

In conference with some twenty men who are responsible for the big Railroad Y. M. C. A. system the other day, I heard some illuminating questions and comment.

They were all keenly interested in discovering some general, simple tests for investments available to workingmen. How to distinguish between the good and the bad?

When one of them told me that railroad men refuse to consider investments because they hear of so many that go wrong, the other men confirmed him. You certainly can't fool all the railroad men all the time!

I know of no more typical group of working Americans than the railroad men. They earn good pay; they are universally sober, alert, intelligent. They not only endorse the idea of the Y. M. C. A., but they support its work, use the club's houses and set the directors a fast pace in extending service.

Now, if such a numerous, sensible body of men are suspicious of investments, there must be very good reasons. What are they?

As developed from our conference, I should say that first come the wide distribution of worthless, cheap oil, mining, industrial and land stocks. When Bill Jones on the Wabash loses $200 in Fairy Gold or Spouter Oil stock, he and his friends proceed to damn all investments.

A second reason why these American mining men of thrifty habits are shy is the record of bankruptcy made by the very enterprises which employ them—the railroads. It is said that practically every railroad in the United States has been in receivership at least twice.

A third trap for the feet of the railroad man investor is the general inability to distinguish between stock and bond investments—the failure to realize that when you buy stock you are buying a part ownership in a business and a share of risks and profits, while buying a bond means that you buy a definite claim upon the company's assets—a claim that must be met if the business is to continue solvent.

Finally, those men who have learned to avoid get-rich-quick schemes and Enduring! Certain-teed is a name which has come thru the storm of business competition stronger than ever. It stands for quality, dependability, satisfaction and fair dealing. On the reputation of this name there has been built the world's largest manufacturer of roofing and building papers.

Certain-teed Roofing is the most efficient type of roof for factories, office buildings, farm buildings, garages, etc.

It costs less to buy, less to lay and less per year of life than other types of roofing. It does not rust, is proof against gases, coal smoke, acids, fumes, etc. It is a non-conductor of heat and cold, is fire retardant and weather-proof.

The cost of laying prepared roofings is the same whether you use good materials or poor. Therefore, it pays to get CERTAIN-TEED, which is the best. It is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years according to thickness (1, 2 or 3 ply), and it will remain efficient long after the time when a poor quality roof would have had to be relaid.

For residences, CERTAIN-TEED Slate Surfacted Asphalt Shingles have all the advantages of CERTAIN-TEED Roofing, plus artistic beauty. They need no paint, are pliable, eliminate waste and misfits, cannot curl, buckle, rot or crack. Guaranteed for ten years.

Investigate CERTAIN-TEED before deciding on any type of roof. For sale by dealers every where.

Certain-teed Paints and Varnishes are good, reliable products made by experienced paint men who know how to make good paints and varnishes.

These men have at their command all the machinery, equipment, materials and resources necessary to manufacture good paints and varnishes economically. They also have at their disposal the extensive selling organization and warehouse system of the Certain-teed Products Corporation, which materially reduces the cost of distributing and marketing.

The result is that CERTAIN-TEED Paints and Varnishes are high grade products, sold at lower prices than you would expect to pay for good paints and varnishes.

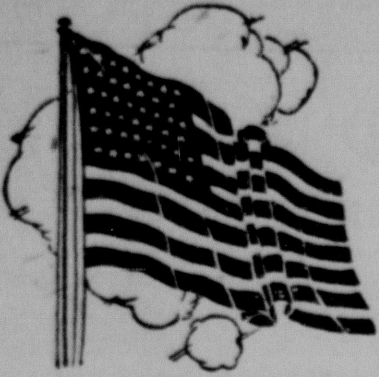

We guarantee CERTAIN-TEED Paints and Varnishes to give satisfaction. Whether you do your own painting or hire a professional painter you will find it to your interest to see that you get CERTAIN-TEED.

Any good dealer can sell you CERTAIN-TEED Paints and Varnishes. If he does not carry them in stock he can get them for you.

BRING CITY MANAGER EXPERTS HERE.

AS the executive committee of the city manager club begins its work of drawing up a city manager charter for possible submission to the voters, the News believes it proper for the committee to arrange for a series of talks before the club regarding the actual operation of the city manager form of government in American cities.

There are as many varieties of city manager government as there are varieties of commission plan government. The fact that most firmly recommends the city manager idea to the common sense of Waco is that no one of the several score of cities that have adopted the city manager plan has seen fit to go back to an abandoned system of city government.

There will be dozens of arguments advocated by selfish interests opposed to the city manager plan for Waco. The city manager will be called a rich man's scheme. As a matter of fact it is the poor man's hope for the ousting of special privilege appeals at the city hall. It will be said that a city manager will be opposed to paying a union scale of wages. In reality, a progressive type of city manager, and Waco will have no other, will be progressive enough to understand the unity of the voters behind him is more important than temporary penny saving that might come through an attempt to shave wages, or to substitute unskilled, non-union labor for skilled union labor.

Unless, however, the whole business of the city manager idea is explained in detail by the men who know what they are talking about, the attacks on the plan probably will be as strong as the defense. The reason is that attack and defense both would be managed by amateurs. In a large measure words be substituted for ideas and experience.

The News offers as a suggestion that City Engineer Sand of Houston be the first man asked to talk before the club. Houston during the past four years has practically been operating under the city manager idea. The mayor declared for a business administration and personally saw to it that the departments were run under himself as a practical city manager. Sands as his chief assistant would be able to illuminate what would be the probable operation of the city manager in a large Texas city under existing laws.

What Did We Get for Our Money?

BY DR. FRANK CRANE

I sat down at the club the other day and along came my friend the single taxer. I like single taxers. They rank with Christian Scientists and Socialists as our most enthusiastic believers, and in "these days of down-pulling and disbelief," to use Carlyle's phrase, it is refreshing to meet a man that believes hard. My own temper of mind being somewhat critical and inclined to question, I look with envy upon men of militant positivity. It's a good thing somebody is sure of something.

He held me in some interesting conversation which I herewith pass on to those more learned and equipped in economics than I: "We've just paid twenty-five million dollars for the Danish West India islands," he said. "What did we get for our money?"

"Why, we got the islands, I suppose."

"We did, did we? Who's we?"

"Why, the people of the United States."

"Not at all. Those islands belong to a few land owners. They owned them when they were Danish. They own 'em now they are American. Just got a different colored flag, that's all."

"Well, there's something in that."

"Yes, sir. One of those islands, St. Croix, is as large as Manhattan Island, and is owned entirely by three men. There are 25,000 people on St. Croix engaged in raising sugar cane. For the privilege of living and working there they must give the three owners the greater part of the wealth they produce, just as the people of Manhattan must give the Astors and a few other families a big part of their earnings for the privilege of living there."

"Now that the United States has paid $25,000,000 for the power to govern the islands, it should do one of two things: It should either empower the 25,000 people who live on St. Croix to take for common use the rental value of the island they live on, and should empower the people of the two other islands to do the same thing, or it should take the rental value itself and use the money for the benefit of the islanders. That is one way that we can get value in return for the $25,000,000 spent. Until we do take this rental value for public use not one cent should be taken in taxation from the laborers who are producing wealth on the islands."

I repeated this conversation to a college professor and bitterly opposed to single tax. He said:

"Stuff and nonsense!"

I was glad to hear this convincing refutation of the single taxer's creed. I knew there must be some answer to his specious arguments, of course, but I couldn't think what it was.

Proverbs for Parents

By H. ADDINGTON BRUCE.

Here, from the folk wisdom of many lands and ages, is a little collection of proverbs giving salutary reminders and helpful hints to parents seriously interested in the upbringing of their young. I offer it as an incidental contribution to Baby Week, now being celebrated in many communities:

The child sayeth nothing but what he heard at the fireside.

Children are what they are made.

The best horse needs breaking, and the aptest child needs teaching.

'Tis better to bind your children to you by gentleness than fear.

What children hear at home soon flies abroad.

Give to a pig when it grunts and to a child when it cries, and you'll have a fine pig and a bad child.

A suspicious parent makes an awful child.

An hour of play reveals more than a year of conversation.

Mother's darlings are milksop heroes.

Farmer Brown's Boy Explains

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

Thrice blessed he who does a deed
He knows will serve another's need.

While Sammy Jay and all the other little people of the Old Orchard watched and wondered, Farmer Brown's Boy went right on working and whistling. At last he reached the end of the old stone wall and then he stopped digging. Along the whole length of the old wall just outside the Old Orchard he had dug little holes. He stretched his arms and back, for digging so many holes had been hard work. Then he started for the barn. The birds watched him disappear, and the minute he was out of sight their tongues began to fly. While he was at work you wouldn't have supposed there was a single bird anywhere around. But the very instant he was out of sight such a racket as there was! Everybody tried to talk at once. You see, every blessed one of them was bubbling over with curiosity.

It wasn't long before Sammy Jay

Everybody Tried to Talk at Once.

Farmer Brown's Boy came back, and right away the Old Orchard became as silent as before. Farmer Brown's Boy was trundling a wheelbarrow which seemed to be filled with sticks. When he reached the Old Orchard he took these out of the wheelbarrow and then Sammy Jay and his neighbors saw what they really were. They were young bushes. Sammy knew that by the roots.

Into each hole Farmer Brown's Boy set one of these little bushes and carefully put back the earth around the roots and pressed it down firmly. He was planting those little bushes. When he had planted the last one he once more disappeared, and once more the tongues of the Old Orchard people flew. Then Farmer Brown's Boy came back and this time he brought a pail of water in each hand. Very carefully he watered every one of the little bushes he had planted along the old wall. When he had watered the last one he looked up in the trees where his feathered watchers were hiding and grinned. That grin was good to see.

"I know you are there," said he. "You haven't fooled me a bit by keeping so still. You have been watching me and everything I have done. Don't you wish you knew what I have planted these little bushes for? Well, I wish you did, too. I'm going to tell you; though, of course, you won't understand a word I say. But some day you'll understand. Some day you'll know just why I have planted these bushes all along the old stone wall and then you'll be thankful to me. You see, I've done all this work just for YOU. You see, I love every one of you. I love to love you about. I love to see you and to hear you. More than that, I know that you are all the time doing a great deal for me. It may be that you don't know it, but you are. I know that the more of you there are about the more fruit and vegetables I will get in my garden and the fewer the bugs and the worms will get. And I know that the less hard work with my hoe I will have to do, because you pick up the weed seeds, and so the weeds don't have a chance to grow."

"Now, what I have done is to try to pay you in part for what you have done and will do for me. When these bushes are grown they will be covered with berries and every one of those berries will be for you. These are barberry bushes, and the berries will hang on all winter. At least those you don't eat will. And I'm going to plant some vines to run all over the old wall—Virginia creeper and fox grape. These will be for you, too. And if you will watch you will see me setting out some trees tomorrow—Russian mulberry trees. You will like those. You will like those so well that you will not be tempted to eat any of the berries in my garden."

A GOOD FRIEND

A good friend stands by you when in need. Waco people tell how Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test. Mr. Bahl endorsed Doan's over four years ago and again confirms the story. Could you ask for more convincing testimony?

J. P. Bahl, prop. Metropole Barber Shop, 818 N. Sixteenth St., Waco, says: "Kidney complaint caused me such suffering. I had a feeling of languor and headaches and dizzy spells. Sharp twinges darted across my back, as if a knife were thrust into my body. I was very nervous and couldn't rest well nights. One box of Doan's Kidney Pills soon regulated the action of my kidneys and removed the pains throughout my body."

(Statement given December, 1911.)

On May 15, 1916, Mr. Bahl said: "Colds sometimes disorder my kidneys, but I can rely on Doan's Kidney Pills to give me relief."

Laugh With Us

One day some one sent me up a box of cigars from the cigar store downstairs. Arthur, my office boy, brought them in and stood near my desk while I unwrapped the package. As I opened the box I said to him jokingly—as he was too young to smoke—"Will you have a cigar, Arthur?" and Arthur replied: "I don't smoke, but my father does." So I said: "All right, take one for your father."

He picked out a cigar and put it away in his inside coat pocket. As he started away I said to him, more out of curiosity than anything else: "What does your father do, Arthur?"

Arthur remained silent and blushed deeply. It made me more curious than ever.

"Come, speak up," I urged.

"He k-k-keeps a cigar store," stammered Arthur as he bolted off—Puck.

"Why is it," asked the curious guest, "that poor men usually give larger tips than rich men?"

"Well, suh," said the waiter, who was something of a philosopher as well, "looks to me like de po' man don't want nobody to find out he's po' and de rich man don't want nobody to find out he's rich."

An Irishman, after a long day's journey, came at length to an inn on the roadside. He went in and asked the landlady to put him up for the night. She consented, and began to prepare something to eat.

"What will you have to drink—tea or whisky," she asked.

"Well, I'll have a little drop of whiskey while yer makin' the tea."

"I left the train at Jackson Junction," said McJones, as he told the story, "for a five-minute luncheon at a railway restaurant."

"There was a man beside me gobbling away, and when he finished I heard him say bitterly as he took out his purse:

"Call that a ham sandwich? It's the worst ham sandwich I ever ate. No more taste than sawdust, and so 'small you could hardly see it."

"'Ye've eat yer ticket," said the waiter. "This here's yer ham sandwich."

In a private sitting room at a certain hotel sat a party of merry-makers when there came a knock at the door, and an attendant announced:

"The compliments of Mr. Blowers, dramatic author, who is in the next room, and he says you are making so much noise that he can't write."

"He can't write, eh?" said one of the party. "Why, tell him everybody who has seen his plays know that!"

The boss lay in wait for the erring office boy.

"William," he said, as the urchin came in, "you asked me for the afternoon off yesterday. I gave it to you, and then I saw you at the football game. You told me you were going to a funeral."

"And I wasn't far wrong, was I? Did you ever see a slower game in your life?"

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY.

O. O. MCINTYRE.

New York, May 6.—There is a well known social climber—who braves publicity and who will not get her name mentioned here, s'there—who drives down Fifth avenue every day in a coach-and-four. The other afternoon she was making the daily drive. The trumpeter was active, the horses fretting and the heavy harness jangling. A newsboy hawking extras at Forty-second street and Fifth avenue stopped his remarkable announcements and stood agape and the blind man who sells pencils at the corner put his head down and listened curiously.

"Here I am, Jack," he answered. "What was that?" asked the blind man, "an advertisement?"

The boy looked after the coach. "No," he said, "it's a big wagon or more like a carriage, with seats on top and inside and with four white horses with harness all covered with silver. There's a guy on top with a minstrel suit blowing a cornet, and a lot of swells are sittin' on top looking down at the avenue."

"What's the idea, anyway?" asked the blind man.

"Gosh," answered the boy, "don't ask me, Jack."

After which the cries of extra became even more aggressive than they had been.

HICO CITIZENS IN BIG DEMONSTRATION

CITY TURNS OUT EN MASSE FRIDAY AT FLAG RAISINGS.

Special to the News.

Hico, May 6.—One of the most notable events here of many years took place in Hico Friday afternoon. It had been announced that it would be Flag and Patriotic Day. Many citizens from the country and other towns came in and joined in with Hico in the demonstration. All places of business were closed and over 2,000 marched to the public school, where a fifty-foot steel flagpole had been erected. There they were joined by 500 school children and carried out an appropriate program. Speeches were made by Rev. W. C. Hilburn, J. F. Wieser, Prof. Ben Randal and Charles Woodson. The school sang appropriate songs. A. L. Maxwell and A. Walker, veterans of the Civil war, hoisted a silk flag to the top of the new pole, after which all marched to main street, where another fifty-foot steel flagpole had been erected. The Hico school band furnished music, after which Rev. Frank Donaldson, pastor of the Christian church, delivered an address. Miss Wiseman raised the flag while the band played.

The evening will long be remembered here, as practically the entire city participated.

MARKETS

NEW ORLEANS COTTON.

By Associated Press.

New Orleans, May 6.—After a small rise in the early part the trend of the cotton market last week was downward, political news being considered unfavorable, while the submarine situation was accepted as decidedly against values because of the fear that it might eventually lead to a complete shutting off of export shipments. Legislation before congress looking to the regulation of exchanges and the fixing of commodity prices, caused considerable selling. The lowest prices were made on the week end, the trading months showing a net loss of 27 to 63 points. The close was practically at the lowest.

Weather returns and crop accounts from the belt were accepted as being against values, except on the week-end when cold weather caused a momentary upturn. Private bureau estimates on acreage pointed to a decrease of about two per cent, compared to the area planted a year ago.

This week the market is certain to pay more attention than ever to war developments, but it will be difficult for the trade to ignore new crop reports.

Temperatures will be watched very closely than any other phase of weather conditions since most sections of the belt have had sufficient rain for the present.

NEW YORK REVIEW.

By Associated Press.

New York, May 6.—The main influences last week in the stock market were supplied by the government's plan for financing its allies and the persistent and unrelenting liquidation of railway shares.

Wall street was disappointed in the delay in the settlement of the details of the two billion dollar loan, but proceeded to assist in the success of that under-taking.

Bag of railroad shares was heavy any many of these stocks fell to lowest quotations in five years.

Statements of earnings submitted by industrial and prominent specialties last little ground. United States Steel backed and filled within a four-point radius other stocks of the same character showing a slightly wider range.

Shipping and oil fluctuated, the former receding sharply because of the marine menace.

Handling of money rates was ascribed to preparations to meet the government's financial requirements.

Statements of earnings submitted by railroads for March were in keeping with similar exhibits of the preceding months, virtually all showing large increases in operating costs.

STEEL.

By Associated Press.

New York, May 6.—The United States government has released specifications against contracts for about 600,000 tons of rolled steel products for this year's delivery and the business has been accepted by the mills irrespective of the percentage allotment according to capacity.

United States business, except where the United States government is concerned, has been reduced to very small proportions by the war, for rails, plates, structural shapes and tin plate have been refused by the large interests.

COTTON GOODS.

By Associated Press.

New York, May 6.—The government is a steady buyer of several kinds of cotton goods principally duck, drills and wide goods. The point is being reached where a diversion of looms is beginning to be felt in the general trade.

Colored goods continue very firm. Branded goods already being scarce. Branded goods already being scarce.

RAINY WEATHER
PLAYED HAVOC
IN BIG LEAGUES

TWENTY-FOUR GAMES IN MAJORS HAVE BEEN POSTPONED THIS YEAR.

By Associated Press.
New York, May 6.—Cold and rainy weather played havoc with the schedules of the major leagues last week. Twenty-four games, eleven in the National and thirteen in the American, were postponed.

Notwithstanding the handicap of rain-soaked grounds, some good baseball was shown. Vaughn of Chicago and Toney of Cincinnati put up a record at Chicago on Wednesday when they went nine innings without allowing the opposing batters a hit or run. Vaughn weakened in the tenth and Cincinnati won the game, 1 to 0, on two singles, the only hits of the contest.

At Polo grounds the same day, New York and Brooklyn battled through fourteen innings to a 2 to 2 tie. The second extra inning the game for Brooklyn in two weeks. Ames, pitching for St. Louis, held Pittsburgh to two hits, winning by 4 to 0.

In the American there were two shutouts by scores of 2 to 0. Fisher helped New York beat Washington with Johnson in the box, and Dauss pitched Detroit to victory over St. Louis.

New York held its leadership in the National until Sunday when St. Louis went ahead through a 4 to 0 victory over Cincinnati. St. Louis lost two games to Chicago and won two from Pittsburgh during the week. Philadelphia and Brooklyn did not lose a game and improved their positions at the expense of Boston, which fell to seventh place, and New York, which did not win a game. The tie for first place in the American league was broken and Boston, which took two games from Philadelphia, now has a commanding lead over Chicago, which lost three out of four games. New York held on to third place. St. Louis climbed from sixth to fourth place and is right behind New York. The Browns won three out of four games and made the first triple play of the season at the expense of Cleveland on Monday. Philadelphia fell back, but Detroit showed a flash on its theoretical strength and came through the week with a clean slate.

GASSERS WIN IN RAIN

Shreveport, La., May 6.—Diamond's single, a sacrifice by Betts and Collins hit, scoring Diamond in the sixth inning, broke a 3 to 3 tie, and Shreveport won the first game of the series with the Oilers 4 to 3. Gibson was banished in the sixth for disputing Umpire Vitter's decision at the plate. Weather conditions worked against good baseball. A cold piercing wind swept the field and a drizzling rain fell almost continuously. The score:

DOUBLE BILL WON BY
ST. LOUIS OFF CHICAGO

St. Louis, May 6.—Groom did not allow Chicago a hit for eleven innings today and St. Louis took both games, the first 8 to 4 and the second 3 to 0.

In the fourth inning of the first game St. Louis drove Russell from the box, making five runs on three singles, a double, two walks and Jackson's error. They added three more in the eighth on two singles, a double, a sacrifice and E. Collins' error. Plank retired for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Groom relieved him on the mound. From then on to the end of the second game Chicago could not get a hit. But twenty-eight men faced Groom in the second game. The scores:

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION IS LOSING $10,000 EACH DAY

By Associated Press.
Minneapolis, Minn., May 6.—What steps are to be taken to remedy present conditions or whether the American association is to discontinue its playing season will be decided at a meeting to be called late this week, Thomas J. Hickey, president of the league, said here tonight.

"The measure now before congress which would impose a tax of ten percent on the gross receipts of baseball, poor attendance because of the war and the fact that thousands of fans will soon be called into military service, has the club owners greatly worried," declared Mr. Hickey.

"The league has lost not less than $1000 a day for the past ten days."

KANSAS CITY BALL PLAYER
BOUGHT BY NEW ORLEANS

By Associated Press.
Kansas City, Mo., May 6.—Larry Gilbert, outfielder, has been sold to the New Orleans club of the Southern association, according to announcement tonight of George Tebeau, owner of the Kansas City American association club. Gilbert last year played with Kansas City, but refused to report this year for spring training, declaring his intention to quit the game. His home is in New Orleans.

GEORGIA HEARS PREPAREDNESS.

By Associated Press.
Atlanta, Ga., May 6.—A call to the people of the South to grow more food and thus help the country in its great war was sounded in hundreds of pulpits in Georgia and other Southern states today. Preachers of all denominations were urged by Gifford Pinchot on behalf of the government to devote their sermons to the necessity of helping feed America and her allies, and more than 3,000 promised to do so.

Pitchers Who Hit!

By Robert L. Ripley.

"Babe" RUTH

By Robert L. Ripley.

Pitchers are poor batters as a rule—but then you know there are exceptions to all rules. Here are a few exceptions:

What batter is more feared in a pinch than Pitcher Babe Ruth of Boston? Not even Ty Cobb. The big Red Sox southpaw is a natural hitter, and his long drives in combination with his great hurling usually makes each victory a personal triumph. Ruth has won five games and lost none already this season, and in three of these games his own heavy stick work was directly responsible for the game.

However, the best hitter among the pitchers last year, according to the averages, was not Ruth, but Ed Pfeffer of Brooklyn. The handsome Robin twirler batted .279 and made thirty-four hits. Ruth hit .272, but drove out thirty-seven safeties. Manager Robinson of Ebbets Field has three pitchers that he uses for pinch hitters. One can never tell whether Robble will send up Pfeffer, Sherry Smith or Jack Coombs in a tight situation. Sherry Smith, however, usually got the call. Smith hit .273 last year and is considered by many as the equal of Ruth as a hitter.

Whenever the Yanks need a hit to tie the score or win the game, Bill Donovan crooks his finger at Ray Caldwell, his star pitcher. Caldwell usually makes good, and last year set a record that will stand a while, when

BELGIAN SPLIT IS PLANNED ABROAD
BY CHANCELLOR

By Associated Press.

The Hague, Netherlands, May 6.—The interview of the self-styled Council of Flanders with the German chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, with the chancellor's proclamation of a forthcoming autonomous Flanders in a dual Belgium, is being eagerly discussed in all its aspects in Belgium, Holland and Germany.

The idea, as defined by Dr. Frans van Cauwelaert, one of the best known Flemish leaders, is to split up Belgium into two administrative units under the crown—a Flemish or Netherlands speaking portion, with Brussels as its capital; and a Walloon or French speaking half, with its capital at Namur. The German authorities, without waiting to see what the war may bring forth, are planning to put the administrative separation into effect.

The department of education has already been split in two and the majority of the other ministries—justice, the interior, the department of trade, industry and agriculture—are to be similarly treated, one group remaining at Brussels and the other going to Namur.

The "political department," which has the oversight of the food supply as carried out by the Belgian relief commission, will remain undivided.

The German press argues that it will be comparatively easy to carry thru the proposed separation of the Flemish and French speaking populations, the language frontier having persisted for a thousand years.

With virtually unanimous voice, the Flemish and other Belgian leaders in Holland join in mercilessly condemning the deputation that thus went to the capital of the enemy of their king and country. Several well known Flemings had the event as fortunate in that it reveals the nature of the "activist" group that has been co-operating with the Germans, and stigmatize their action as "high treason."

"Permanent dependence of our Flemish people on Germany would betoken the slow but certain loss of our language, our economic independence and our hereditary liberties," declares Dr. van Cauwelaert, who is a Catholic member of the Belgian chamber, while Arthur Buysse, liberal member of the chamber, says: "On the day that Flanders shall again be free the council of Flanders and activism will cease to be. The Flemings will demand that German institutions shall at once disappear with the German commanders. The overwhelming mass of the Flemish population entertains at least as much hatred toward the activists as toward the Germans."

Camille Huysmans, member of the Belgian chamber and secretary of the Socialist Internationale, declares: "The members of the council of Flanders are nobodies, and represent nothing and nobody." Only one or two isolated and feeble voices are raised here in behalf of the suggested autonomous Flanders under the German aegis.

Worth the Risk.

Dear Auntie Mable had sent the three Morgan children a very beautiful imitation fruit each, made of sugar and nicely colored.

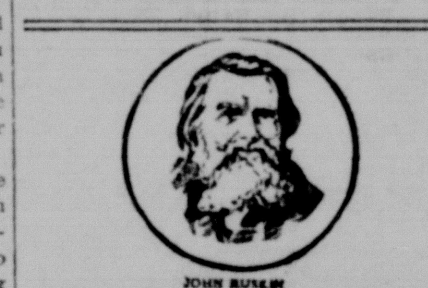

Mrs. Morgan thought they ought to be saved; the kids thought differently. "Now you really mustn't eat them, you know," explained mother, in a last desperate effort. "They look awfully pretty, but I'm not sure that the coloring may not be dangerous. In fact," she went on, dropping her voice in an awesome whisper, "I have heard of children dying from eating colored things."

She thought that would do the trick, but early next morning she heard a sound out on the landing and, going to see who was astir so early, found Elsie trotting along the passage.

"Where are you going, dear?" she asked. "It's not 6 o'clock yet."

"Going to see if Dick and Arthur are dead yet," replied the eight-year-old miss. "I'm not."—Tit-Bits.

TEXAS PYTHIANS GUESTS OF WACO IN ANNUAL MEET

BUSINESS SESSION WILL OPEN
TUESDAY MORNING IN RAL-EIGH CONVENTION HALL.

The grand lodge of Texas Knights of Pythias will be formally opened in Waco tomorrow morning, and at the same time the grand temple of the Pythian Sisters also will convene for first formalities. The sessions will be opened at the Hotel Raleigh convention hall, 9 o'clock.

Meeting places for the business sessions will be: Grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, Hotel Raleigh convention hall; grand temple, Pythian Sisters, Castle Hall, 117 North Eighth street; State Association K. R. S., at the Chamber of Commerce, 115 North Fifth street; State Association D. O. K. K., State House convention hall.

The Knights probably will settle the question of a permanent meeting place at this meeting, and locations then will be considered. Waco is considered to be especially well located for a permanent meeting place, and every effort will be made to have the visitors think so, too.

At 10 o'clock Tuesday morning business sessions will begin and the Pythian Sisters will then be at Castle Hall on North Eighth street. At the opening exercises at 9 o'clock, Dr. J. F. Bailey of Waco will preside. The program presented yesterday will be carried out from 9 to 10 o'clock. Members of the various organizations mentioned will begin arriving today.

General information. The Raleigh is headquarters for grand lodge and grand temple. The State House is headquarters for the D. O. K. K. The Hotel Waco is headquarters for the K. R. S. association.

Convention Halls. Grand lodge in convention hall, second floor, Raleigh hotel. Grand temple in Castle Hall, 117 North Eighth street. D. O. K. K. in convention hall, first floor, State House. K. R. S. association in Chamber of Commerce, 115 North Fifth street.

Schedule of Events. Monday—7 p. m.—Conferring grand lodge rank in Castle Hall. 7:30 p. m.—Reception in gold room and parlors, Raleigh hotel.

8:30 p. m.—Opening meeting in convention hall of Raleigh, addresses by the supreme chancellor, supreme chief and other prominent Pythians. Music by the Pythian home band.

Tuesday—Opening ceremonies, convention hall, Raleigh hotel. 10 a. m.—Convening of various grand lodges in adjournment, taking official photo on Eighth street, front of Raleigh hotel. Every visitor urged to "get in" this picture.

4:30 p. m.—Parade, forming on North Eighth and Washington streets. Route from Raleigh hotel on South Eighth street to Franklin, thence east on Franklin to Third, thence north on Third to Austin, thence west on Austin to Twelfth street. Autos will be furnished free for this parade and for ride over city after parade.

6 p. m.—Barbecue and Reception meeting at automobile building, Cotton Palace.

8 p. m.—D. O. K. K. ceremonial and smoker at Cotton Palace coliseum.

8:30 p. m.—School of instruction, Pythian Sisters, in Castle Hall.

8:30 p. m.—Informal "Old Time Pythianism" meeting of the "every day knights" in Raleigh convention hall. S. A. P. W. will be required for admission.

PYTHIAN RECEPTION. The program at Raleigh convention hall tonight will be open to the general public. An address on "Pythian Patriotism" by Hon. John B. Brown, Vandalia, Ill., supreme chancellor, K. of P. of the world. Mrs. Lillie Samuels of Oakland, Cal., supreme chief of Pythian Sisters, will also make an address. Waco citizens should attend this meeting as a mark of respect to the distinguished visitors in the city.

A reception in the Raleigh parlors will be given the Pythian supreme and grand officers and lady visitors at 7:30. All Pythians, their wives, daughters and sweethearts are urged to be present. Music by Boys' band from the Pythian home.

RECOVERS FROM OPERATION. Mrs. J. B. Logan, who was operated upon at a local sanitarium last week, is improving nicely.

CONFER WITH WACO WOMEN.

Mrs. W. A. Philpott of Dallas, secretary of the Texas Women Bankers' association, will arrive Tuesday to be the guest of Mrs. W. W. Woodson, president of the association. Mrs. Philpott is coming to confer with Mrs. Woodson and Mrs. J. L. Landrum, chairman of the press city department, relative to the concluding plans of the association's convention which will be held in El Paso with the Texas Bankers' association, May 15-17.

For the first time since the women's association was organized, the men will adjourn their convention and meet with them in one half day session. The women have planned a program of unusual merit for their fifth annual meeting.

The Texas Women Bankers' association is affiliated with the state and national federation of women's clubs. Waco entertained the association in 1915.

"BROADWAY JONES" AT HIPPODROME.

George M. Cohan, the young human dynamo who is accredited with making Broadway famous, has at last made his first moving picture, "Broadway Jones," and it will show at the Hippodrome theatre today only. This is a six-reel Artcraft feature, a pictorialization of one of the most famous of the star's stage successes, and brings to the public again all the energy, "pep," optimism, and splendid happiness for which Cohan is known from one side of the United States to the other. Cohan of the screen is the same breezy Cohan of the stage, and people who know him and those who know him only by reputation will feel they have seen an old friend after viewing this picture. In the Douglas Fairbanks style, which in turn is the George Cohan style, Mr. Cohan brings happiness and cheer, wholesome fun and hearty good will, and what is far more important, he spreads all this to his audience even from the screen. Marguerite Snow is his leading woman, a beautiful girl who is chiefly famous for her work in "The Million Dollar Mystery," and Crauford Kent, Ida Darling and Russell Bassett are the chief players in the support. The story deals with the adventures and waking up of young "Broadway" Jones when he makes his first trip to the street for which he has been nicknamed, and is an ideal vehicle for the energy and talent of the inimitable star.

WEST AVENUE PARENTS WILL MEET TODAY

The West Avenue Parent Teachers' association will meet this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the school.

Mrs. Hall will present a report on the recent district meeting, and other matters will come before the organization. This organization has been a very active one, and all meetings have interesting features.

DEMONSTRATOR FOR MEET IS PLAN OF CANNING CLUB

The funeral of Mrs. Ed. Costley was not held yesterday on account of the inclement weather. The funeral will be held today, the procession leaving Waco at noon, if the weather permits. In case of bad weather, the body will be shipped by rail. The interment will be made in Crawford cemetery.

"30" CALLED AT NORFOLK.

TEXAS TRAVELERS MEET ENROLL NEW MEMBERS

The Texas Travelers at their session yesterday morning at the Raleigh hotel, at the Waco branch of the Red Cross society. Past President J. S. McClintock was presented with a handsome set of ivory dominoes by Manager R. E. Fellow of the Raleigh.

The following new members were enrolled: M. C. Griffin, C. O. Woody, F. Curtis de Cordova, M. L. Garvin, Jack Brittain, J. S. Milliken, C. P. Guthrie, A. H. Hardin. Applications were received from six others to be balloted on at the next meeting. Exactly 100 renewals in the organization had been received up to yesterday's meeting, and an enrollment of thirty-two new members since the beginning of the fiscal year of the organization in March, which will provide for an immediate emergency death benefit of $12, in case of the death of any member in good standing on the plan of $1 per capita.

President Barnett and others look for the enrollment under the new plan to reach 200 within a short time.

VAWTER TRIAL TO CONTINUE.

By Associated Press. Christiansburg, Va., May 6.—The trial of Charles E. Vawter, former Virginia Polytechnic institute professor, charged with the murder of Stockton Heth, Jr., will enter upon its second week tomorrow. Little more evidence is to be heard, both the state and defense having rested in direct examination.

Knowledge is power only so far as is practiced.

Waiting.

"I'm just waiting for my husband to complain about my extravagance this month."

"Ready to give him an argument, eh?"

"You bet I am. By mistake his golf club came to the house and I've got 'em.—Detroit Free Press.
